22 And maybe that inauguration stage needs to get made into a bon fire.

17 Form a ring of 100,000 people around it. No cops, no ANTIFA, no nothing are going to be able to penetrate a ring of 100,000 people. Then protected inside that ring, have a couple of dudes who work in construction remove the door properly, off its hinges, without damaging it in any way. Because that is how our revolution rolls. We aren't out to destroy America, we are out to rescue it.

7 The cops and aunt tifa will already be guarding it most likely.

▼ Aunt tifa will probably call in some fake bomb threats to blame on us and the congress will evacuate then you kill them all! we are not playing games anymore. A crooked cop is just as bad as auntie tifa. You have a mission and one must carry it out. Anything in your way is to be removed by any means necessary.

They've destroyed America for decades and you're worried about a couple doors?

I am worried about American history. I do not like these American statues being torn down either. If you want to burn down the CNN headquarters that is one thing, but our monuments and historical buildings? I think we should defend those, not destroy them. Also it puts us on the moral high ground.

Look, if you gotta destroy the doors to get in then go for it.

I just think we might be looking at this wrong when we picture riots and looting and destruction from the right. Maybe there is a way to assert our physical dominance without actual destruction.

Like if we had one million rifles all drawn in D.C. and no one said shit and no one fired a shot but suddenly like magic the law starts getting enforced again. That is the kind of show of power I like to imagine.

LAW AND ORDER TO BE UPHOLD BY WE THE PEOPLE UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE. FBI. CIA. DOJ. YOU ARE ALL TEMPORARILY SUSPENDED AS WE SORT THIS MESS OUT.

Of course, it's on hold due to the shamdemic. I wonder if Trump can force them to resume tours.

1 ▼ As a guy who works on types of doors, the door is only as strong as the latch. Being made of bronze if it has bolts that extend into the ceiling and floor it would be near impossible to open it up with conventional means. doing some research it was installed in 1868 so i don't think it has those bars. Enough force would bend and shear the metal. Either way it looks like there are many different ways in if these cause an issue. Remember these are just things that can be replaced and re crafted in other images. So, if you need to batter them down, go for it. In minecraft
